We first did a mission because Oliver who had been downed my morganti, was seen at sunset near the forest edge, so we tried to investigate (i baddied because i am thinking THIS IS A TRAP THIS IS A TRAP THIS IS A TRAP) so we found him, and then he motioned for us to follow him through a few encounters. In the third encounter one of our party members dueled him (he took the duel but seemed unaffected by the distance limit) In the third encounter, we got a do you know me! From the court of darkness! Hooray! But anyways, we failed to guess it, then we got ambushed by green zombies. They dropped most of our party, around 5 of them ran out. Fake Oliver dropped 2 of them (the green zombies were chasing too but they were slow). They got chased through a few encounters, until the entire party who goodied got captured. So me, and a few other people did a protecting builders mission because it was almost time. Basically the entire party except 6 people got captured.