Nibs - 4th of Tenthmoon

Today was super ultra lame. Big thing, I was chased by super villains (?) through the poop chute (??) with Gron Gron my green slime companion, but he is dead now. I was crawling through, rolling Gron Gron in front of me to eat all of the poop, when I got out of the crack and saw the big super villain! He was so tall, and super scary, so I decided to go back to tell Dordus and the rest of the peoples about it when two other bad guys but mini came up and attacked! I dodged, I weaved, I fought so hard, but in the end it didn't even matter. They whacked me really hard then I think they killed me because I woke up back in town and had to meet with the scary guy later (I am... very confused. Somebody please tell me what you all were doing??). But that was only one of the things we did, I guess there was also more. Before that we went to meet with someone else who I could understand! He looked like an older guy with really cool clothes, I gave him a really good rock I found. He brought us to something called a shrine (who was this man?) and I learned about dra-gods (what?) that are the things that made the world and I said thank you to them for making me because I like being made into alive. We went back and I don't think anything else happened, I wasn't really paying attention though. The last thing we did was so cool! We found the rock guys playing follow the leader! I'm really good at playing follow the leader, but the guy that's made out of rocks (who?) stopped me from following them just in time for them to fall off a cliff which was super scary. The bad guy but cool guy who stole my rock last time (sorry Amarthiel (you do kind of deserve it)) but this time played catch and hit the rock out of the air with a stick fell though, he saw the funky looking little people fall and jumped after them. That was silly (... sorry). Oh! We played Loser as well, and Dordus taught other people so we got to play a lot of games of it.

I guess today wasn't super ultra lame.

(What are you guys doing? Take care of the kid, please.)
