Hello there, Today, we were just informed of an INCREDIBLE feat we achieved! We now have MEDIUM LOW chivalry! We used to just have low chivalry, but now we have a new innkeeper and now we are trusted to go to Illionor! Anyways, I also must inform you that Eldar is doing very well. We also had not seen that big Silver Dragon that was circling the Eldar region until just when we were in the teleport circle, It came back. ≈60% of Falnorian is thriving. Now, before I go onto the missions, I must tell you something. In Harmini, The big flooding that we had assumed would happen in some time, happened already. Also, in Illionor the Mageocracy (eg. Celenrion) was disrupting everything in Illion, So that is why we went there. Anyways, Now onto the missions. In the beginning, when we were first going out, I decided to stay in Illion to see how it went. Based on what I heard, they encountered what they thought to be Army leaders, but couldn't communicate with them for the most part because they don't speak elvish and they barely spoke Fal. Then, they found out that one of them could speak Falnorian, and then one of the army leaders told the translator that Celenrion took some of Illion's army and kidnapped them to the woods and that they want to rescue them back. Then, on the next encounter, they saw a messenger running extremely fast being chased by Celenrion. This was likely because they had info for Illion. In the next encounter, they saw what they came for. Captures. In this encounter they noticed that there were roughly 4 or 5 waves of Celenrion capturing one of Illion's people. Unfortunately, they lost all of the waves, and all five people were successfully captured. After this, we went back to the Inn to decide what to do next; we had decided to disrupt the mage rituals that they were performing. I went on that mission, and I have good and bad news. The good news is, we thought we captured an archmage, but it was just a regular rank 3 mage with a cloak. The bad news is, a few of us, Including me, died. Some of us died from a plain ol' explode ball. Some of us "With the sorcery of witch, I kill you and extract your memories." Only two of us died from the crazy witch sorcery, and i believe 4 including me died from an explode ball. I ended up wisping and when I pulled for death, I pulled weight one which means, Minor disturbance and I chose tingling. Tingling doesn't have much of an effect so I thought it would be good. I also trained Rank One Witch today! Thank you for reading. If you found what you were looking for, then great. If not, I hope someone else helps you.

Farewell,

Nyx the 4th
