Making the Halhars Not Implode

The cyclopses and us have found a way to make the Halhars not implode. The plan is to dump a lot a lot of ice from a iceberg into another smaller volcano to make it implode making there be more lava for other volcanos. The cyclopes will help. We are setting up a stronghold to create a place where people can stay and work from. Currently we are trying to make cyclopses size forges so they can make better weapons for themselves. We have caravans to transport ice. I personally have scouted out the Halhars for a location for a stronghold with others (see other chronicle). Help would be appreciated but not needed. Hopefully everything goes to plan but it probably won't.
