Hello again!
This week in Anguron we exterminated some cockroaches from the teleport circles in the mage school. The running theory is that they were sent by the Syenon Mage School, but it seemed like a friendly prank sort of thing. First we cleared out the front room of the school, then we went back and cleared out the room with the teleport circles. A few times some of our own and some cave cockroaches were teleported away, but they reappeared after a little while. Next we fought spiders for the Anguron Mage School for some sort of alchemical.
